The recommended routes on this map may be dangerous and even deadly depending on many variables such as current avalanche danger, weather, snow pack depth, skill and experience level, and time of day. If you are not an expert and experienced backcountry hiker, climber, skier, snowboarder, or snow-shoer, we highly recommend you hire a professional guide to take you into the backcountry. We recommend excellent local guides and backcountry skills classes from www.alpineskills.com. You take FULL responsibility for yourself and you party when using this map.
